

NURSING FACILITY TRANSITION PROGRAM EXPLORING IN-HOME CARE OPTIONS

Learning how to be independent in your current home is important as is returning home from a nursing facility, which is something that affects many adults. Do you know anyone currently in a nursing facility? Have you ever wondered what would happen to your apartment if you needed to go to a nursing facility? Are you aware of the different options that may be available to you now while living independently? Come to this informational session to get these and other questions answered by staff from the Disability Network Southwest Michigan.
